DC holds water rate increase at 10 percent, okays cab fare hike

By TERRY DAVENPORT
Post Staff Writer

Two-and-a-half hours of comments by irate citizens persuaded Daly City City Council members to enact a water rate increase that the city staff told them will not pay the Daly City Water System's operating costs during 1979-80.

Instead of approving a recommended 12.9 percent increase in the minimum bi-monthly rate for 15,990 Daly City residents, they allowed a 10 percent increase.

They went along with the staff's advice that no increase be levied against the 2,860 homeowners in the Serramonte area, since those residents have been paying more for their water for years.

The council also built in a concession when it approved a 25 percent increase in the Daly City Cab Company's rates.

They directed the company to return in 30 days with a plan for implementing at least a 10 percent discount for senior citizens.

The taxicab increase, effective immediately, raises the rate for each flag drop and the per-mile charge from 80 cents to $1 and the waiting time rate from $8 per hour to $10 per hour.

The water rate increase will appear first on bills issued in September for July-August service.

Most Daly City residents will see their bi-monthly charge for the first 600 cubic feet of water jump from $7 to $7.70.

Water rates were increased 11 months ago by 15 percent hike. It was the first increase in three years.

Ronald Mitchell, assistant to the city manager, said the latest increase is necessary to offset higher utility rates and a recent 12 percent increase in the cost of water that Daly City buys from San Francisco.

He said the water system has lost $185,660 over the past eight fiscal years and would have a $208,130 deficit without an increase.

Mitchell recommended a 10 percent increase in the rates, with most Daly City residents paying 12.9 percent more so that Serramonte residents, who currently pay $9.30 for the first 600 cubic feet of water, would not have to pay another increase.

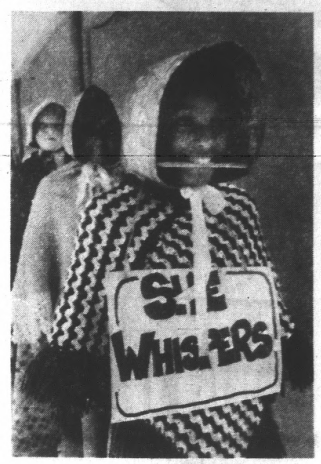
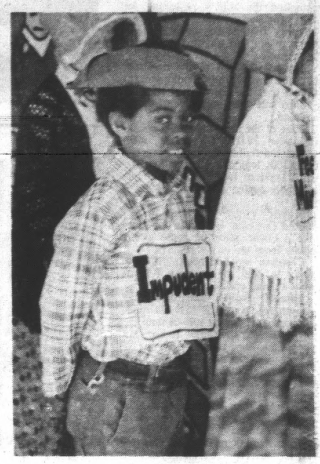
'COLONIAL DAYS' AT COLMA SCHOOL

A child's life at school could be grim and colorless in colonial times, as was demonstrated this week in the fifth grade classes of Miss Shirley Plank and Mrs. Lillian Martinez at Colma Elementary School in Daly City. Boys and girls sat on opposite sides of the room, lunches were home-made, water was obtained from the "well" outside in tin cups, and copybooks were used in studies of Latin, the Catechism, penmanship from Poor Richard's Almanac, and arithmetic from "Battledoor," and recitation was from "Paul Revere's Ride." Discipline also was harsh, as shown by Sheila Jasper, (in photo below, with her "whisper stick," Sylvian Brewster (bottom right) labeled "Impudent," and the standing "Sloucher," "Gawker," and "Liar" in recitation above.





Fiery plaints send Giammona up in smoke

Four hours of tirades by members of the audience were too much for Daly City Councilman Anthony Giammona Monday night.

When Harold Calder accused the City Council of helping developers crowd projects into the Crocker district of the city at the public's expense, Giammona exploded.

"I've had it, Mr. Mayor," he said. Then, turning to Calder, he added, "If you've got a complaint, I'd like to hear it, but if you're just going to pound away, I'm not going to listen anymore."

Weary of the long lectures they had received from citizens about water rates, the council members all looked as if they had Excedrin headaches as the clock ticked toward midnight and the same citizens brought up numerous complaints during the "oral communications" portion of the meeting.

The council did not take Calder's suggestion to form a committee to look into his complaints about development in the Crocker area.

He charged the council with overloading housing developments in the district, not providing adequate recreation facilities, stalling on the development of Lincoln Park and allowing Crocker School to be sold to a developer for $250,000 instead of buying it to use for a proposed multi-purpose center that will be built on a prime piece of commercial land on Mission Street.

He urged the council not to support further developments in the area, saying, "If a developer buys land, there's no guarantee that it will be rezoned."

But Giammona and Councilman Albert Teglia defended the council's handling of proposed projects in that neighborhood.

Teglia noted that Calder had been out of town for several weeks and was not aware of the city's progress on Lincoln Park or its plan to look into buying Washington School for recreational use.

Calder vowed to discuss the matter further with the city staff.

Lincoln Park is a particularly sore subject with the council because of repeated delays in clearing properties from the site.

The city has spent more than $1.5 million buying land for the park, bounded by Brunswick, Templeton, Acton and Winchester streets.

In a rush to clear houses from the site so work on the park could begin, the council voted in April to demolish two houses that might have brought the city a few dollars.

City Manager David Rowe revealed Monday that the man who won a $3,600 purchase order from the city to demolish two houses has not yet completed the job.

That man, Percy Hayter, asked the council to allow him until June 25 to finish the work, instead of the June 18 deadline Rowe had given him.

Hayter admitted that he wants to try to use the houses rather than demolish them.

After City Attorney Albert Polonsky pointed out that Hayter was trying to take advantage of the city, the council voted unanimously not to extend the deadline past June 18.

If Hayter does not clear the two homes at 941 and 985 Brunswick St. by then, the city will cancel his purchase order and hire someone else to demolish the houses.

But the council members defied logic when they voted unanimously Monday to accept bids for the sale and removal or destruction of another house on the park site at 967 Brunswick St.

Rowe told the council last month that it could take three months to sell that home.

Worries about homeland

'Amy' adapts to peace

The young girl's dark brown eyes were riveted on the TV screen when the name of her homeland, Nicaragua, appeared over Walter Cronkite's left shoulder.

She bounced on the edge of the couch and applauded when a scruffy band of guerrillas in a military tank appeared on the screen.

Her brow wrinkled when President Anastasio Somoza's fleshy face stared into the room.

And she let out a soft, anguished "Oh-h-h-h-h" when the camera panned across overturned cars and crumbled buildings in Nicaragua's capital, Managua, while the sound of gunshots echoed in the background.

Four weeks ago, she had lived only 10 miles away.

The 13-year-old girl was lucky. After six months of intense lobbying with immigration officials and politicians, her relatives succeeded in bringing her to the United States to live.

Her aunt and uncle, Barbara and Rogerio Manzanares of Daly City, are waiting for permission to adopt her.

The girl's recent arrival in the U.S. fulfilled her mother's dying wish. The woman so loved this country that she named her daughter "America."

When she died of leukemia last Nov. 11, America was left an orphan in a war-torn country.

Barbara and Rogerio Manzanares spent the intervening months worrying that their niece would be injured in the clash between the guerrillas and the autocratic Somoza.

When her plane touched down at San Francisco International Airport May 16, they heaved a sigh of relief.

According to Mrs. Manzanares, it is only now that the family is beginning to understand how fortunate the little girl was.

"Somoza is killing people from (age) 12 to 21. What future will Nicaragua have with him?" she asked.

Her husband recalled how he had predicted a major uprising as he waited at the airport for America's plane.

"When we were kids, we were dummies. People said 'Don't make waves' and we believed them. Kids now are smarter," he said.

During the past week, the violence in Nicaragua has been making headlines. Manzanares said he is certain the rebels will try to oust Somoza soon.

But America, called "Amy" for short, only blinked back tears when she was asked what she thinks of Somoza.

Her aunt explained that Amy was afraid to express feelings about Somoza because she had seen Nicaraguans who were critical of his regime beaten and hauled off by police.

Amy scanned the crowd scenes of Managua that appeared on TV for familiar faces. "She is very worried about her cousins," Manzanares said.

The nightly reminders on TV of the world she left behind give her nightmares.

But during the day, she is adapting quickly to her new surroundings.

With her aunt and uncle translating, Amy said that America is like a fantasy land and that her relatives' modest home on Castleton Avenue in Daly City is a castle.

She find the freeways "beautiful" and wishes people in Nicaragua could have them, too. In Nicaragua, there is only one main highway.

After watching her aunt spend half a day doing six loads of wash in the washing machine, she marveled at how fast laundry could be done. People in her homeland do the wash by hand.

When her uncle painted the living room with a paint roller, she wondered why no one had thought of such an invention back home. There, they dab paint on with brushes made from the tails of horses and cows.

Among her other discoveries have been fast food restaurants, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and dishwashers.

Amy is having trouble with a few conveniences, such as showers. In Nicaragua, she bathed with a hose in a shack behind her two-room home. She can't get the hang of the combination tub-shower controls here and often mistakes the "C" faucet for hot. "Caliente" is the word for "hot" in Spanish.

She's so used to conserving water that she takes Navy showers.

Amy is picking up English quickly – including such phrases as "See ya later." But some words take additional explaining. Asked if she wanted a hot dog, Amy's first reaction was "Ugh!"

She latched onto television in no time. Her favorite programs are cartoon shows and "The Partridge Family."

And the little girl who arrived in a sophisticated dress soon abandoned feminine clothes for the jeans and "Ben" pants she saw other girls wearing when she went to register for school.

Much to her uncle's dismay, she already wants to wear eye make-up like her classmates.

Amy is having trouble getting used to other peculiar American habits. When she joined her aunt for lunch one day, she was surprised that they had only 45 minutes to eat. In Nicaragua, the noon meal lasts two hours.

She said she thinks all Americans dress like rich people and rush around too much.

No doubt the culture barrier will be broken completely this summer when Amy takes bilingual courses in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Her aunt and uncle believe she'll be jabbering English in six months.

They hope they will have permission from the State Department to adopt her as their daughter by then.

Amy already has adopted the American way of life. In a letter to a cousin back in Nicaragua, she wrote, "It's wonderful here and someday I'm going to work and send for you to come, too."

attacked the staff's reasoning for the proposed increase, displaying hostility that caused council members to squirm uncomfortably in their seats.

Toward the end of the meeting, Councilman James Tucker mentioned that the council had endured "more salt than sugar" during the evening.

Once of the most vehement speakers was Julius Castelan, who demanded that he not be interrupted during his long discourse on how the water system is overstaffed and is allegedly hiding a million dollars a year.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis interrupted Castelan, asking if he would like a clarification on some of his points from the city staff.

Castelan snapped back, "It's not going to help me because I know what's going on."

Mitchell replied that the water system has budgeted $140,070 more for personnel during 1979-80 than the current year because it had six vacant positions this year.

He stressed that the department has operated at a net loss over the past eight years and said it had been audited seven of those eight years.

Castelan then lambasted the city for loaning $648,000 in water system funds to the Colma Creek Flood Control Project in 1971 and not getting any interest from the money.

Mitchell said Daly City's general fund owns the receivable funds and there is no interest to be repaid.

Several North County cities financed the flood control project when they were faced with lawsuits arising from damage by the creek.

Other speakers criticized these aspects of the water system's budget:

• A projected $18,680 increase in miscellaneous expenses, which Mitchell said includes rents and leases, computer costs, office expenses, postage costs, memberships, training and bad debts.

• The $299,600 budgeted for "city overhead" — that is, indirect administrative costs.

• The city's failure to begin a water reclamation project as quickly as anticipated.

• A projected $136,610 increase in water and power costs. William Wade of the Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association said only $50,000 of that amount could be attributed to the 12 percent increase in the cost of water sold to Daly City by San Francisco. Mitchell said the rate increase accounts for $72,000 of that sum.

• A lack of any funds for capital improvements in next year's budget. Mitchell said the city figured such expenses could be postponed a year or paid out of the water fund's excess cash balance.

• A proposal to advance $104,000 from the city's water fund to help finance a liability self-insurance fund. Mitchell said the city would have had to pay the same amount to an insurance carrier if the council decided not to approve self insurance.

• Roseann Emerson of the Serramonte Homeowners Association asked water rates for the entire city be equalized. Representatives of homeowners' groups in other parts of Daly City said Serramonte residents should pay more for water, since annexation of that area forced Daly City to buy water from San Francisco. (Most of the city's water comes from local wells.)

Despite Mitchell's warning that raising rates for most residents by 10 percent instead of 12.9 percent would result in a $46,000 deficit during 1979-80, the council unanimously approved that rate increase.

Councilman Albert Teglia asked the staff to inform the council of any problems with funding the water system as they arise.

There was little discussion before the council unanimously approved the taxicab rate increase, noting that everyone is well aware of the higher cost of gas.

However Councilman James Tucker said he would favor having a fact-finding committee of citizens and two council members look into proposed rate increases before they are forwarded to the council.

Take profit out of real estate, speaker proposes

A law to outlaw making a profit in real estate?

That's what one bitter renter, a San Bruno woman who described herself as a philosopher, told a San Mateo County Housing Study meeting in San Mateo recently.

She told the gathering that "the only way to beat the housing shortage is to pass laws to prohibit speculation in housing and to impose tight rent controls.

"Right now, the amount of profit people want to make in real estate is limited only by what the market will bear.

"People have a right to decent housing, and that should have precedence over unlimited profit.

"Sellers and landlords are wreaking havoc with housing.

"People don't have the right to make an unreasonable profit at the expense of public need. There should be an anti-speculation ordinance."

She said that in Davis, where she formerly lived, a person must live in his or her home or apartment for a year before being allowed to sell it. Prices are 30 percent lower there, she asserted.

Furthermore, the woman declared that instead of real estate people, government officials should handle property transactions.

In other business:

USE PERMIT — The council approved a use permit, subject to a zoning change, to allow construction and operation of a veterinary hospital at 1570 Bryant St. with several conditions. The applicant, Mark Restani, alleviated one of the council's primary concerns by agreeing to install soundproofing.

ABSENCES — Giammona received permission from the council to leave the state from June 26 through Aug. 27. He is taking his annual two-month vacation in Hawaii. Councilman James Tucker said he will be out of state from June 23 through July 6.

CROSSWALK — Edith Richardson, president of the John Daly Senior Citizens Club, asked the council to provide a crosswalk and stop sign near the entrance to Westlake Park. She said she plans to ask the San Mateo County Transit District to add a bus stop there.

HEARING — The council set Aug. 13 as the date for a public hearing on a proposal to establish preferential parking along Shakespeare Street.

Library Friends' accomplishments

Members of the Friends of the Daly City Library are understandably proud of the accomplishments of the past term and a brief glance at the group's contributions to Daly City's library system does show an admirable record!

The funds raised by the group were used to purchase a large number of volumes for the branches, among the most popular, "Walt Disney's Illustrated Children's Classics" which has been used by Nancy Holland, Westlake children's librarian, for the children's programs at holiday times.

Copies of all books reviewed by the "Friends" were purchased and donated to the library.

The piano in the community room at the Serramonte Library was repaired and a donation of $15 was paid to the library each time the Friends meet in the Westlake branch which is not regularly open on meeting days.

Money was donated to expand the children's program at Westlake branch and a chess set and a checker game were purchased for the Bayshore branch.

All these contributions were in addition to the $2,500 given for the purchase of books and $500 which has been set aside to buy two readers for microfiche.

DA seeks legal ruling on BART

The county Board of Supervisors voted unanimously Tuesday to authorize the district attorney to look into possible legal action that would force BART to open the St. Charles Street parking lot to San Mateo County residents.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District restricted use of the 250-space auxiliary parking lot north of the Daly City BART station May 21, arguing that only residents of counties that pay to support the transit system should be permitted to use the lot.

Daly City Planning Commission Vice Chairman Richard Silver asked the supervisors to intervene, pointing out that very few cars are using the lot and that part of it lies in this county.

Why volunteer? Volunteers ask 'Why not?'

Perspective

By ARVILLE FINACOM

Why volunteer? For some, like Ruth Galindo of Daly City, out-going president of 17th District, California PTA, the answer is as simple as taking pride in what an organization stands for and does. For others, such as Anna Nelson of Millbrae, in-coming president of Peninsula Auxiliary, Lutheran Social Services, it becomes a matter of seeing a job to do and being willing to do it.

Volunteering is an ongoing tradition locally, a way of life not only for those who can afford the time and sometimes money involved, but also for those who seek exposure to new career opportunities, a change of either pace or place and perhaps, most importantly, a sense of purpose in their lives.

Increasingly, volunteer activity is being taken seriously by employers, many of whom provide space on employment applications to list such service. Letters of recommendation from agencies where one has served may be used in compiling resumes and income tax deduction for mileage and other volunteer-related expenses is allowable.

Many drift into volunteering by accident. A friend asks them to help or a neighbor points out a community need. Sometimes the impetus is role-related. PTA leaders, traditionally, come from the ranks of concerned parents and interested teachers. Usually the first experience is small, without too great a demand on time or energy, but before long, a volunteer may find the satisfactions of volunteering are great enough to justify increased time, energy, even personal expense.

Several years back, when I was involved as a leader in workshops designed to help groups develop volunteer programs, I asked participants to consider 15 principles as summarized by Professor H. Harry Giles, School of Education, New York University. None should be considered "better," but all accepted as valid motivations.

Giles believes people volunteer for "participation, faith, belief in the organization recognition of problems, attacking problems, being critical of life, personal identification, to be wanted/needed, seeing a range of possibilities, external rewards/ recognition, trust/responsibility, to have power, to be part of positive action, to enhance self worth/esteem and to grow and develop." The list is comprehensive. In fact, analyzed carefully, it includes most the things people look for in "worthwhile existence."

During the close to three years "Perspective's" been in print, I've mentioned a number of groups and organizations dependent solely or in part on volunteers for their continuing activities. I found it rather interesting to learn when I stopped recently at the Volunteer Bureau Voluntary Action Center (119 Primrose Road, Burlingame) that there are more than 250 agencies in San Mateo County which utilize the bureau's services in finding and screening volunteers.

For someone new to the area or new to the idea of volunteering, the bureau office (phone 342-0801) should be the first stop. The agency, which defines itself as "a registration and referral center for men and women, boys and girls — who wish to give of their time and skills to the health, welfare, recreation and civic agencies of their community" also acts as "a connecting link between the many agencies in need of volunteers and the men and women who are willing to serve."

Although there is a paid director, funded partly by United Crusade money and partly by county funds, the office staff is volunteer. Because he or she is a volunteer and knows how important satisfaction in placement can be, the interviewer who meets you or talks with you over the phone is careful to read your responses in the light of potential involvement.

Along with the usual specifics — name, address, education and/or job/volunteer experiences, availability, time of day, week, etc. — the interviewer takes note of skills and hobbies which might be of volunteering value. Specifically note is made of the potential volunteer's interests. The range listed by the bureau includes office work, spot handyman jobs, tutoring, companionship and driver service — all areas to which the volunteer brings his/her own level of skill. Training by sponsoring agencies is offered for those who want to work in crisis intervention, probation/corrections, or in schools and hospitals with the stable as well as the handicapped or emotionally disturbed.

At headquarters, in a stucco bungalow on the edge of Burlingame's downtown business district, a bulletin board fills the length of the hall wall. As requests for volunteers come in, the staff posts them according to interest areas. Anyone is free to browse the wall looking for a job. Bureau volunteers also check the files for those who have indicated interest in specific areas and call them when they feel there is a suitable opportunity for service.

Potential volunteers are made aware that there are two kinds of requests: "One-shot" and "continuing basis." Many "one-shots" are bulk mailing preparations. Many non-profit groups have one or two big fund raisers a year. It's at those times when they have more work than their limited full-time staffs and regular volunteers can manage. Such "one-shots" give potential volunteers a chance to meet staff and learn more about an organization before they consider a "continuing basis" assignment.

Regular readers may have noticed the "Help Wanted" listings from the bureau which appear weekly in this paper. A bureau volunteer explained that there are three reasons such "ads" appear. First, the opportunities listed are immediate needs which the involved agency hopes to fill as soon as possible. Second, the community becomes increasingly aware that such needs exist. Third, community members begin to understand the wide scope of bureau activities.

To get in the spirit of working and touring

Samuel Chandler

"Ah", cried James Russell Lowell,

"What is so rare as a day in June?

Then, if ever, come perfect days;

Then Heaven tries the earth if it be in tune,

And over it softly her warm ear lays."

Then there was the guy who had hay fever and athlete's foot but still liked June, and he wrote:

"What joy have I in June's return?

My feet are parched — my eyeballs burn,

I scent no flowery gust;

But faint the flagging Zephyr springs

With dry macadam on its wings."

Between the June lovers and the people who suffer during the summer are those of us who, like Charles Hanson Towne, stop occasionally to notice.

"How softly runs the afternoon

Beneath the billowy clouds of June!"

During June, why not take a walk or a leisurely car trip to an interesting place and then take a walk?

Whether you walk or ride, amble along slowly. Don't hurry; notice the clouds above; listen to the roar of the ocean or the breeze in the trees; kick a rock now and then whistle a tune. As you move, take time to:

". . . dream where the land lies sunny,

And live, like the bees on our heart's old honey.

Away from the world that slaves for money —

Come, journey the way with me."

Madison Cawein

For help, take along a book like "San Francisco Free and Easy" (Headlands Press, $3.50). In it there is a chapter entitled "The Insider's Outdoors." It tells what to note as you walk through Golden Gate Park or through other parks, beaches or even along city streets. Other chapters point to boat lanes, cafes, libraries, museums and historic places. "Get in the spirit," the authors write.

"Exploring California's Byways" is the name of a series from the Ward Ritchie Press that outlines trips you can make in a day or a weekend.

As Russ Leadabrand write in the volume that discusses the mountain country, "You'll meet friendly mountain breezes, and scents and the perfume of the high country and a few of our sassy birds . . . Best of all, you'll find a peace of mind that no city can erode."

Broaden your arena by visiting the places discussed in "California Historical Landmarks," from the State Department of Parks and Recreation. Here is a list of the places that are preserved as they were when an important event engulfed them.

So, before June passes away, why

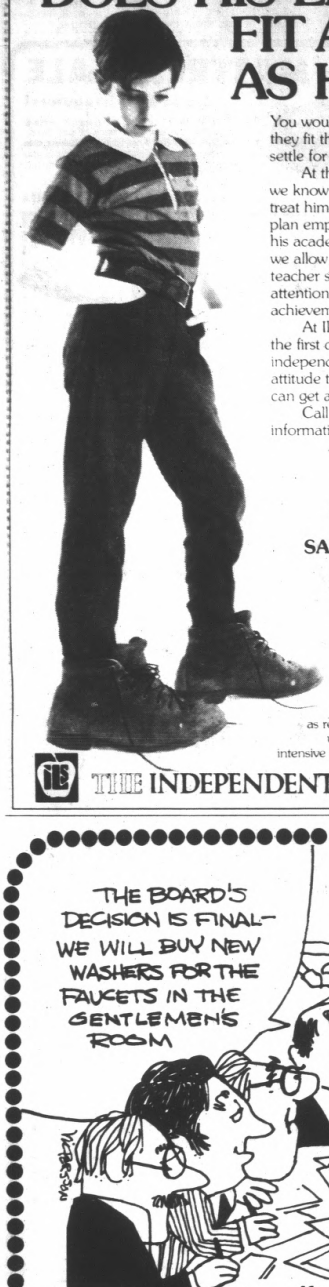
DOES HIS EDUCATION FIT AS WELL AS HIS SHOES?



You wouldn't choose his clothes because they fit the average eighth grader, so why settle for an average eighth grade education?

At the Independent Learning School, we know your child is an individual and we treat him like one. We design an educational plan emphasizing basic skills, tailored to fit his academic strengths and weaknesses. And we allow no more than 12 students per teacher so that your child gets the personal attention he needs to show a high level of achievement on every assignment.

At ILS, he can experience success from the first day. He builds self discipline, independent study habits and a positive attitude toward learning. At ILS, your child can get a perfect fit where it really counts.

Call the campus near you for enrollment information. Enrollment limited. Grades 6-12.

Partners®

We know some Bay Area kids who won't make it without a Partner. Good kids, really, except they need adult attention and approval. They need someone who'll take an interest in them...someone they can talk to... someone who'll listen. They need a Partner.

Partners is the only organization of its type that works exclusively with troubled boys and girls in the Bay Area. The youngsters are usually referred to Partners by the probation department, youth service bureaus, or schools. They are as old as 18, as young as 10.

Partners matches the youngsters up with adults—one-to-one...one youngster, one adult. They promise to be friends. And they make a commitment to try to understand each other and spend time together. It's a very simple concept—but it works.

Partners opens a whole new world to these troubled youngsters. It puts them in a new environment for a few hours at a time, gives them a new image of themselves and shows that somebody cares.

Some youngsters won't make it without a Partner. That's why Eureka Federal Savings wants you to know about Partners. You see, some youngsters may never have a partner without your help. If you are interested, send us this coupon today.

not walk around San Mateo County's own Discovery Bay, or visit the site of the first San Mateo County sawmill, or old Searsville, or La Honda Store. In San Francisco you'll find the old U.S. Mint is open to the public. You can walk around the ancient Presidio, or Mission Dolores, or visit old St. Mary's Church. "California Historical Landmarks" will help you find them all.

"Tour the Country Roads," by Arthur Reichert (Valley Publishers, $5.20), outlines a 13-day trip through the rustic wonders of California, even though it is known for the size of its cities. Each chapter presents a day's trip, so you can do it a day at a time. For an interesting day, take a tour from old Mi-Wuk Village, through Yosemite Park to Mariposa. Or take the trip from Fresno to Furnace Creek in Death Valley or travel through the high Sierras from Graeagle and Gold Lake to Nevada City and Alta Sierra.

Let Reichert be your guide and do it in the lovely month of June. "Come," he writes, "smell the wildflowers, listen to the birds, marvel at the beauties of nature. Be reminded of exciting places . . . Enjoy the thrill of discovery and the pleasure of coming to the end of a day with calm nerves and a sense of well-being."

Now, if your fancy takes you beyond the boundaries of California and you can get the gas to go, Jean Craighead George's "The American Walk Book" (Dutton, $13.95), is the book for you. Here the traveler finds descriptions of walking tours along Lewis and Clark's Trail or along the historic shores of the Potomac or on the Old Chisholm Trail.

"The American Walk Book" tells you how to walk through Grand Canyon or along the Pacific Crest mountains that extend 2,610 miles from the Mexican border through California and the Northwest.

All-County Baseball team named

By PAUL SALVONI

Bob Melvin could not have done much more for the Menlo-Atherton High baseball team this past season. Melvin, selected by the Baltimore Orioles in last week's annual major league baseball draft, captured the triple crown in the South Peninsula Athletic League this year with 27 hits in 51 at-bats for a batting average of .529, with six home runs and 25 runs batted in.

Because of his outstanding efforts, Melvin, the Bears' 6-3 catcher, has been selected Player of the Year to spearhead the 1979 Amphlett All-County Baseball Team. Melvin makes the All-County team as its designated hitter.

Joining Melvin on this year's All-County squad are a dozen other players, including five more from the SPAL. League champion Carlmont lands three players: pitcher Tim McNaughton, catcher Steve Smith and outfielder Dave Ring. M-A first-baseman Jim Dunton and Sequoia outfielder Ted Mitchell are the other SPAL representatives on this year's All-County club.

The other All-County selections: pitchers Jeff Dietrich (Serramonte), and Roger Ruzek (El Camino), infielders Ralph Akchurin (Burlingame), Greg Funk (Serra) and Vic Onizuka (Aragon), outfielder Jeff Pettigrew (El Camino) and utility man Frank Regello (Aragon).

Just how good a player is Melvin? The general consensus among veteran prep observers is that Carlmont's Smith distinguished himself as a slightly better defensive catcher this past season. Nevertheless, you can often tell how strong a player is by the comments of opposing coaches.

Said two opposing SPAL baseball coaches at the start of the 1979 season, when assessing the skills of their own catchers:

"If Melvin weren't around, our kid would be the best all-around catcher in the league."

That, along with his impressive statistics, pretty much sums up Melvin's stature.

Aragon's Regello was the only other player in ths County who batted over .500 in league play. Regello went 16-for-31 in Mid-Peninsula League play for an average of .516, and he also compiled a pitching record of 5-0 during the MPL's round-robin season. Regello and Carlmont's McNaughton are the only juniors who made this year's All-County team.

McNaughton, a fireballing southpaw, clearly established himself as the ace of the SPAL. Right-hander Chris Willsher of San Carlos had more velocity on the ball, in the opinion of Melvin, but McNaughton show good control in addition to putting speed on the ball. Carlmont's ace fired a no-hitter against Woodside — a strong hitting club — in his final outing of the Scots' regular season. In addition, McNaughton went 17-for-42 at the plate (.404) with 19 RBI's in SPAL play.

Serramonte's Dietrich, like McNaughton a hard-throwing southpaw, had a record of 3-4 during the North Peninsula League's round-robin season. So much for the value of pitchers' won-lost records. Dietrich had an earned run average of 2.06, and he pitched the Cinderella Regents to a 1-0 victory over El Camino, the top-ranked team in the County, in the NPL playoffs.

Placing three pitchers on this year's All-County team may appear questionable — until you look at who they are. Just as there was no way McNaughton or Dietrich could be overlooked, nor could El Camino's Roger Ruzek be left off the squad. Ruzek, the Colts' ace right-hander, compiled an ERA of 1.26 in NPL play. His finest hour came in the Central Coast Section Region I playoffs when he shut out West Catholic Athletic League champ St. Francis of Mountain View 2-0.

Ruzek was also a solid hitter. In El Camino's two Region I playoff games, the versatile three-sport star drove in a total of four runs — including two on a tremendous 450-foot home run in the Colts' 13-5 win over Burlingame.

Carlmont didn't win the SPAL championship by virtue of luck. The Scots had the league's fourth, fifth and sixth best hitters in McNaughton, Ring and Smith. Ring finished 18-for-46 for an average of .391, and Smith went 16-for-41 for a mark of .390. In addition, Smith finished third in the SPAL with 22 RBI's, and led the league in runs scored with 23.

Obviously, M-A's opponents would have preferred to pitch around Melvin. But the Bears' Jim Dunton saw to it that the solution wasn't that simple. Dunton, who generally batted in the cleanup position right behind Melvin, finished third in the SPAL in hitting with 23 hits in 49 trips for an average of .469. He also finished second to Melvin in the RBI category with 23.

Onizuka, recently chosen Male Athlete of the Year at Aragon, nearly didn't get enough official at-bats to qualify in the MPL's batting race. That's because the 5-3 Onizuka didn't present opposing pitchers with much of a strike zone. Whenever opposing hurlers threw him strikes, however, Onizuka knew how to swing the bat. The Dons' steady second-baseman finished second to Regello in the MPL hitting race with 14 hits in 30 at-bats for an average of .466. He was also a solid defensive player.

Burlingame came within three victories of winning the CCS championship, and Akchurin — now playing with New Pisa Restaurant in the Peninsula Semi-Pro Association — was the primary reason the Panthers finished the season as the third-ranked team in the County. Akchurin was the best defensive shortstop in the MPL and one of the league's strongest hitters. Incredibly, Akchurin did not strike out in MPL play until the Panthers' second-to-last round-robin game.

Serra won six straight games to lift its overall record to 14-6, then concluded a disappointing season with four consecutive losses. But shortstop Greg Funk certainly wasn't a disappointment for the Padres. Several of Serra's key players suffered injuries during the course of the season, and Funk did his best to help hold the team together. Funk was tough at the plate — and tough in the field.

A strong leadoff hitter can make the difference between a good ball-club and a great one. And Pettigrew, El Camino's center-fielder, made a lot of things happen for the Colts.

"The way he runs to first base (upon drawing a walk), he reminds me of Pete Rose," said one veteran prep observer.

In Camino's Region I playoff victory over Burlingame, Pettigrew drew a walk to open the bottom of the first inning. When the ball got away from Burlingame's catcher and he had trouble retrieving it, Pettigrew hustled all the way to second base, helping to ignite a four-run Colt rally. In Camino's CCS semifinal playoff contest against Carmel (the eventual CCS champion) earlier this month, Pettigrew slammed a solo home run to help spark a five-run Colt rally.

Pettigrew finished with 14 hits in 48 at-bats in NPL play for an average of .292. He also accounted for nine RBI's and scored 15 runs, an NPL season high.

Speaking of strong leadoff hitters, Sequoia's Mitchell would be hard to beat. Mitchell, like El Camino's Ruzek a three-sport star, finished second to the superhuman Melvin in the SPAL's hitting race with 29 hits in 61 trips for an average of .475. Mitchell was also second in the league with 21 runs scored.

This year's honorable mention list is comprised of nine players, making a total of 22 players selected for All-County honors — which is probably a fitting number. There are exactly 22 prep baseball teams in the County.

Millbrae DiMaggio tips SM in opener

With Mills High's John Mangiante and Burlingame High's Matt Hesselgren each driving in four runs, the Millbrae Joe DiMaggio baseball team defeated host San Mateo 12-9 Sunday in the teams' Peninsula Joe DiMaggio Baseball League season opener at Fitzgerald Field.

With Millrae clinging to a precarious 9-8 edge, Mangiante picked up two of his RBI's — and drove across the game's winning runs — by rocketing a solid two-run homer into the bushes in right field.

Mangiante's hit was not ruled a ground-rule double, because no one could find the ball in the bushes and it was thus assumed that the ball had gone through them and landed on the El Camino Real. When the ball was finally found in the bushes at the conclusion of the inning, San Mateo argued about the ruling.

Mills' Dave Paulus gave Millbrae another insurance run in the sixth when he blasted a solo homer to right, with the ball landing on the El Camino. Capuchino High's Jay Slotnick contributed three hits for the winners.

Mangiante, the fourth pitcher Millbrae had to use, took the mound in the bottom of the fifth and pitched well down the stretch, getting credit for the win.

Trailing 9-1, San Mateo had gotten back into the game in the third by parlaying two hits into seven runs, trimming Millbrae's advantage to 9-8. But San Mateo finished with only three hits on the afternoon.

Millbrae and FC PAL win

Millbrae posted a 7-2 victory over visiting Daly City at Mills High and Foster City Lions Club defeated hosts San Bruno 4-0 at San Bruno Park in a pair of Mid-Peninsula Cal-PAL Baseball League games Sunday.

Millbrae, now 2-0 in league play and 8-1 overall, out-hit Daly City 8-4. Capuchino High's Marty Simenc accounted for three RBI's for Millbrae, and right-hander Mike Monteroso went the full seven innings on the hill, recording seven strikeouts and walking only one Daly City hitter.

Youths to play baseball at DC diamonds

The Daly City Recreation Department is sponsoring Tee Baseball programs this summer at five parks for youngsters 6 to 9 years of age.

The program will feature fundamentals of hitting, starting with a batting tee, fielding, rules of the game, and basic motor skills in the game of baseball. Youngsters must furnish their own gloves. There is no fee for the program.

These facilities will offer the program starting the week of June 25: Marchbanks Park (Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon), Westlake Park (Monday and Wednesday, 1 to 3 p.m.), Bayshore Park (Monday and Wednesday, 1 to 3 p.m.), Gellert Park (Monday and Wednesday, 11 a.m. to noon plus Wednesday 2 to 4 p.m.) and Westmoor Park (Monday and Wednesday, 1 to 3 p.m.).

Registration for the program will be at each site starting June 18. Youngsters may sign up the day the program starts.

Autograph booths deprive kids of adventure

Those "autograph booths" that the Giants have at Candlestick Saturdays are good public relations, and the device alleviates the problem of the players from being hounded on the field during practice, or before or after games outside the clubhouse.

It's a nice safe, guaranteed, sterile way of getting autographs, and the club means well, but the Giants are depriving kids of a great adventure; because it isn't the autograph itself that's important, it's the challenge of getting it that makes it worthwhile.

With us, it was always the chase that made autograph collecting intriguing. It was the most daring, or devious, or imaginative kids who got the greatest autographs because it took daring, deviousness and imagination to get the toughest autographs, i.e., the signatures of the guys who wanted least to give them out.

Anybody could get the good guys, the ones who obligingly stood outside the clubhouse door under the stands at Seals Stadium, often for hours, until they got every last kid who asked for an autograph. But the kids who got the tough ones were the neighborhood heroes — for a day, anyway.

I never was a great autograph collector because I was selective. I believed in quality, not quantity — unlike many of my friends.

I'll never forget the day I "got" my hero of the time, Ferris Fain, the Seals' great fielding first baseman who later went up to the Athletics and twice led the league in hitting. It was a Sunday game in 1946 and the stands were packed because the Seals were on their way to a pennant and Fain was leading them to it. He was a tough autograph because he just didn't seem to have much patience with kids and seemed at the time, to me, anyway, to be a very brusque man. But the old "Burr Head" was my hero because I liked the aggressive way he played. I couldn't have cared less about his personality. In fact, his personality was part of the challenge.

Le Pacini

On this particular day I saw him go into the dugout after batting practice, so, on an inspiration, I hustled down to the dugout, scrambled onto the roof of it and hung over its edge, upside down, looking for Fain.

There he was on the bench, virtually in front of me, squinting his eyes and spitting tobacco juice. I leaned over and in, trying to offer him my autograph book. I almost fell on my head into the dugout. Fain leaped up, evidently thinking I was about to crash, and as he reached his hand up to support me, I shoved the autograph book into it.

"Oh, Christ," he said, spit out a stream of tobacco juice, and signed the book. No "Best wishes," or anything fancy like that. Just "Ferris Fain," without a smile and without wanting to know my name. And then he turned and went into the tunnel leading to the clubhouse.

It was one of the greatest moments of my life, a vivid instant in time that I'll never forget. I had won. I had beaten my idol, Ferris Fain.

And that's what bothers me about those autograph booths. Thirty-three years from now, will the kids standing in line at the booths remember exactly how they got those autographs?

It's about time for my semi-annual, almost serious baseball test. Read it and weap:

1) In 1976 and 1977 players on the same team finished one-two in the American League batting races. Who were they?

2) In 1977, Sparky Lyle became the second, third or fourth relief pitcher to win the Cy Young award?

3) Who was the first black coach in the American League: Larry Doby, Elston Howard or Minnie Minoso?

4) For the amateur umpires: A batter hits an inside-the-park homer but misses tagging first base, the opposing team appeals the play, and the umpire calls the batte out. Is the batter credited with a home run, triple, double, single, or an "offer"?

5) Walter Alston never played in a major league game?

6) The Cleveland Indians were once known as the Molly Maguires?

7) Willie Mays never led the NL in RBI?

8) The Yankees have never finished in last place?

9) Jim Thorpe played major league baseball?

10) What Cy Young Award pitcher gave up a record number of homerun pitches in 1970?

11) Name the pitcher for the Chicago Cubs who struck out four men in one inning in 1974?

12) The 1962 Dodgers, led by Maury Wills, stole 198 bases. Wills accounting for 104 of them. Name the four other Dodgers who had 10 or more stolen bases?

13) Name the outfield for the 1950 Philadelphia Whiz Kids.

14) Who wrote the poem, "Casey at the Bat"?

15) Who missed only two of the above when originally asked the questions by baseball buffs?

ANSWERS:

1) Rod Carew and Lyman Bostock.

2) Lyle was the second. Mike Marshall, pitching for the Dodgers in 1974, was the first relief pitcher to win a Cy Young Award.

3) Elston Howard.

4) A time at bat without a hit.

5) False. Alston went to bat one time for the Cardinals in 1936. Now, if the statement had been "Walter Alston never hit a baseball in the major leagues," the answer would have been true because Walter whiffed in his one big chance.

6) True.

7) True.

8) False.

9) True. Thorpe in fact put in six years in the biggies, breaking in with the Giants in 1913, and eventually playing with the Reds and the Boston Nationals. An outfielder, he had a .252 lifetime batting average and hit seven home runs.

10) Jim Perry.

11) Bill Bonham (currently with the Phillies).

12) Willie Davis (32), Tommy Davis (18), Jim Gilliam (17) and John Roseboro (12).

13) Del Ennis in left, Richie Ashburn in center, Dick Sisler in right.

14) Ernest Thayer.

15) Me. I thought that No. 10 was Robin Roberts, and on No. 12 I replaced Roseboro with Wes Parker.

RATING:

13-14 Correct — You're better than me.

12 Correct — You're as good as me.

11 or less Correct — You're worse than me, never take another baseball quiz.

Hairballs make a cat sick

Animal Forum

By DR. DAVID R. BARNETT

Q: Our 8-year-old female (spayed) Siamese cat vomits quite frequently. She was examined and the contents of her stomach contained grass. We now feed her indoors and have taken off her flea collar. Sometimes we give her vaseline for "fur balls" but we were wondering how often we should do this and if something else would help.

—T. J. F.

A: Fur (hair) balls are very common in cats especially during warm months when the cat is shedding excessively and swallowing the hair as she cleans herself. There are various commercial preparations which work quite well for hair balls and are relatively inexpensive. Most of them are oily type laxatives that cut the hair in the stomach and help it to pass through the intestinal tract. Vaseline would be helpful but probably would not work as well these other preparations. Whatever medication you use should be given at least a week during the summer months. Of course, follow the directions on whatever medication you purchase.

Q: Is it possible to successfully keep parakeets with finches or canaries in an aviary? In my aviary I now have six parakeets. One, an albino hen, is a very nervous bidr. Instead of eating she spends most of her time fluttering around. Consequently she is very, very thin. What can be done about this? Will she calm down later? (She has been in the aviary for a week.) What is the best way to give seed in an aviary?

—S. A.

A: Parakeets can be kept with finches and canaries in an aviary if there is adequate room for the birds. The albino hen may have a medical problem and need treatment, or she may be nervous in new surroundings and calm down later. Give her more time to relax since you have had her only a week. If she does not relax and start to gain weight in a few weeks, consult a veterinarian who likes to treat birds and follow his advice. The best way to seed in an aviary is in a relatively shallow container suspended off the floor. These birds don't like to dig down for their food, so the container should be shallow and fairly large and off the floor to keep droppings out of the seed.

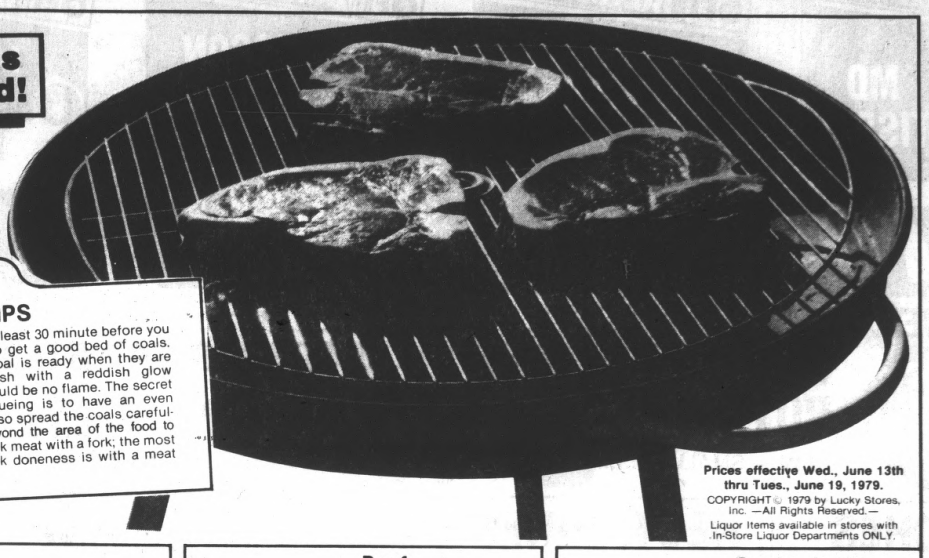
BBQ This Weekend!



BARBECUE TIPS

Always start the fire at least 30 minute before you start barbecueing ... to get a good bed of coals. The briquets or charcoal is ready when they are covered with gray ash with a reddish glow underneath. There should be no flame. The secret of successful barbecueing is to have an even distribution of heat ... so spread the coals carefully to extend a little beyond the area of the food to be cooked. Do not stick meat with a fork; the most accurate way to check doneness is with a meat thermometer.

The Indian

By LORRAINE WILSON, LINDA LEE and MICHELLE VELEZ

Students of the Jefferson Union High School District attended a conference in Sacramento May 30. The conference featured speakers such as State Sen. John Foran and Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, who spoke to the students in the morning. After lunch, students were invited to a Senate hearing.

The Jefferson faculty and the varsity baseball team had their first annual softball game last Wednesday.

Pitchers for the faculty were track coach Greg Alvarado and for the varsity, Robert "Boo Boo" Jefferson. Highlights were basketball coach Bud Bresnahan's major league pop-up with a softball. Baseball coach Bob Brandi missed a fly ball aimed right at him. Despite the faculty's efforts, the final score was 18-12 in favor of the varsity.

Vanessa Woods, who has had an outstanding season this year, is the only runner who made it to the state meet this year. Woods placed first in the 220 and second in the 100. Robert Thompson, a junior, placed sixth in the high hurdles, missing the state meet by two places.

Students of the student government class at Jefferson are trying to form an Alumni Association. They will be contacting alumni of Jeff during the next semester and expect to have the association well underway by next year. If you attended Jefferson High and are interested in joining, please send your name, address, and graduating class, to Diane Cresci, Jefferson High School, 6996 Mission St., Daly City 94014.

The class of '79 went on its traditional Grad Night June 1, leaving the airport for Disneyland during the evening and returning Saturday morning. The students, dressed in suits and formals, had the opportunity to see special attractions such as the group "Peaches and Herb" and others.

The seniors also have been busy with the Gong Show, which was May 31. Some of the acts included the return of "M and R," a singing duo of Ted Dumpit and Donna Patton to "Reunited," and an imitation of Shirley Temple, "Little Miss America," by Frances Jolivette.

Wedding trip to Mazatlan

A honeymoon trip to Mazatlan followed the Saturday afternoon wedding of Jill Elizabeth Wiard and David Wayne Wells at Hope Lutheran Church in Daly City.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wiard of Daly City, Jill walked to the altar with her father. She wore an Empire gown of white silk organza with imported cotton lace trim. A wide headband of the same lace caught her finger-tip veil, and she carried white roses and baby's breath accented with yellow roses.

Buttercup yellow voile gowns with white cotton lace trim were worn by the attendants. Patti McKee of San Bruno served as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Susan King of Concord and Polly Wiard of Arcata, sisters of the bride. They carried white daisies, yellow roses and baby's breath, and the same flowers were repeated in the circlets they wore in their hair.

David, the son of Mrs. Jean Wells of Napa, asked William Hill of Sonoma to be his best man. The ushering contingent included Larry Knight of Vacaville and Steven Wiard of Miranda, brother of the bride.

The couple received the best wishes of their guests at a reception in the parish hall of the church.

The new Mrs. Wells, an alumna of the University of San Francisco, is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and the International Order of Job's Daughters. David, who attended Diablo Valley College, is a building manager. He has a brother, Darrell Wells, who is stationed in Germany with the Army.

San Bruno will be the couple's first home.

A gallant and his fine game

It is almost impossible to name the inventors of any of the great classical games.

Most of them were not really invented; they developed and evolved. Chess, for instance, is quite a different game than it was 500 years ago. And while there is a lot of speculation as to the origin of chess, we do not know for certain where the game started.

There is one game that is very popular today which we do know was invented and we know quite a bit about the man who did it.

The game is Cribbage.

Gamesman

Cribbage is one of the most entertaining of all card games and its inventor was an entertaining character. He was Sir John Suckling, who lived in England from 1609 to 1642. In his short 33-year life he was famous to the point of being notorious. A contemporary described him vividly as "the greatest gallant of his time, the greatest gamester both for bowling and cards so that no shopkeeper would trust him for sixpence, as today he might be worth 200 pounds and the next day be worth half so much."

Sir John is remembered in game circles for cribbage, but in English literature he is remembered for a modest contribution, in particular his love lyrics. He was a poet, a gambler, and very much a ladies' man, the latter being his undoing.

Sir John had one little gimmick that helped him win at cards, including cribbage. He distributed free decks to the card clubs of London. It is suspected that these decks were marked. This was not really proven and his career was cut short rather ignominiously when, after an argument over a woman, he suffered a severe beating from one Sir John Digby. Suckling supposedly poisoned himself not long after the incident.

Cribbage is played with a regular pack of 52 cards with the jokers removed. The cards rank King, Queen, Jack, 10, down to Ace. The value of each face card is 10 and aces count as one.

A "cribbage board" is used, although it takes no actual part in the play. It is just a convenient way of keeping score.

Stress reduction for adults

The Daly City Recreation Department will offer a six-week summer program in stress reduction for adults. The program is designed for those 16 years of age and older.

Dealing with the stresses of everyday life and to maintain better health through relaxation exercises, simple yoga postures and breathing, creative visualization and meditation as well as diet and nutrition will be featured. Every adult can participate in the non-strenuous exercise portion of the program.

The six-week program will be at the Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., Wednesdays, June 20 to Aug. 1, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Deadline for registration is June 18. The fee per person is $15 for residents, $22.50 for non-residents.

Advance registration is required, and fees will not be accepted at class.

Three seniors will make speeches at graduation: Shirley Ong, valedictorian; Marianne Lenci, salutatorian; and Daria Wiggins, senior class speaker.

Class officers for the 1979-1980 school year were elected recently. There was rough competition for most offices. Almost all of the candidates put up campaign posters. Two candidates even printed up special campaign literature. I'd like to wish all officers the best of luck for next year.

Next year's senior class officers are Daphne Jackson, president; Regina King, vice president; Diane Wight, secretary; and Jeff Boyd, treasurer.

Class of '81 officers are Sandy Nalls, president; Nancy Won, vice president; Geraldine Aspiras, secretary; and Marlena Yee, treasurer.

The Sophomore class officers are Gina Hom, president; Lisa Riker, vice president; Joy Limcaco, secretary; and Debbie Logia, treasurer.

The Music Department's annual spring concert was a smashing success. The concert featured the concert band, jazz band, and choir.

The concert band played a variety of tunes ranging from contemporary hits to old favorites. The Debbie Burrows Scholarship, given to the most outstanding band student, was announced. The winner this year is Leslie McNeil, who will attend Mendocino Music Camp for two weeks during the summer.

A past president of the California Hospital Association, he made the retirement announcement during a monthly meeting of the Mills' board of directors.

Burness, who lives in San Francisco, said, "It's time for someone else to make opportunities out of the challenges ahead while I pursue other interests and more leisurely activities."

A week ago, another Mills administrator, Jonathon Baker, resigned. He had served the hospital for 11 years.

Good morning, good cooks.

In Italy, basil has always been a token of love, and Itailans' use of this herb in cooking is definitely "con amore."

In fact, most Italian cooks think of basil at about the same time they do tomatoes. They crumble it over sliced tomatoes with a vinegar and olive oil dressing, include it in tomato sauce with pasta, and use it in scores of other tomato preparations.

Tomatoes, however, aren't the only vegetable which has an affinity for basil. The Italians also team this savory herb with zucchini, potatoes, eggplant, and green beans and with cheese and fish dishes as well.

Probably the most famous Italian use of basil is in the sauce they call "pesto," which is used with pasta, minestrone and various vegetables. Here is an easy version of the specialty called Presto Pesto.

It's made quickly in the blender using thawed chopped spinach, Parmesan, garlic, olive oil, a whiff of anise and lots of basil. (Basil, by the way, is a delicate herb, so you can use it more lavishly than some of the other seasonings.) You'll find this sauce a delightfully different change from the "red" sauces usually used over spaghetti, fettucine or linguine.

Viva Presto Pesto!

PRESTO PESTO

½ package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed
1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2½ tablespoons basil leaves, crushed
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1/16 teaspoon ground anise
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/3 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1 package (12 oz.) fettuccine or other pasta

Place the half package thawed spinach in a sieve; press out liquid using a wooden spoon. Place spinach in blender container along with third cup Parmesan cheese, 2½ tablespoons basil, 1½ teaspoons salt, half teaspoon garlic powder, one-sixteenth teaspoon each ground anise and black pepper, one-third cup olive oil and two tablespoons butter. Cover and whirl at high speed until smooth (until 10 seconds), stopping occasionally to scrape down sides of container; set aside. Cook fettuccine according to package directions. Drain and toss with reserved pesto. Serve at once.

Yield: 6 portions.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

Remember when everything was "in"?

You were most "in" when you knew in advance what would be the pet in for the next day, week or month.

It was a delicious sense of snobbism to read the right book, see the right TV show, wear the right clothes — even when you didn't like them.

Fashions and fads go. Yet one of the classics in my personal library is a book called "It's In to be Thin" by Lois L. Lindauer. All that Lois wrote in that book in the days when being thin was in, are true today.

Since reading that book I have come to know Lois personally. Whenever non-dieters meet her, they are always surprised at her ease in social situations. She loves eating out. She adores parties. She diets constantly, but she draws no attention to the fact.

Does it bother her?: Not at all. Her answer to the difficulties of maintenance is: "I love being thin. Nothing I could eat equals the taste of wearing a size 5. I'm always conscious of wanting to feel good about myself, caring about what I eat so that I remain thin is one way of guaranteeing that I'll always feel good about myself."

Among Lois' pet recipes is this one for a delicious casserole.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

1 zucchini, washed
1 egg, beaten
1 cup mushrooms, fresh or canned
6 oz. tomato juice
¼ tsp. garlic powder
pepper to taste
¼ tsp. dried parsley flakes
1 tsp. dried onion flakes
1 tsp. dried celery flakes or
½ cup celery, chopped
1 ounce mozzarella cheese (part skim milk) or grated parmesan cheese

Cut zucchini into cubes. In vegetable sprayed fry pan, cook with mushrooms until tender. Add beaten egg, scrambling it gently. Stir in tomato juice and the rest of the seasoning. Put in small vegetable sprayed casserole. Top with 1 ounce part skim milk mozzarella cheese or grated parmesan cheese. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30 minutes.

If you would like a Father's Day menu and recipes, just write to me at The Diet Workshop, 2533 Taraval St., San Francisco 94116. Please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope no. 10, and I'll see that you get it pronto.

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Bright Lights' Perennial Vacation and Dining Guide

It's that time of year again when Bright Lights brings you our perennial vacation and dining out tabloid section, which is designed to supplement your summertime activities.

A wealth of information has been jammed into this vacation and travel guide to serve as a source of valuable vacation tips, tourist attractions and lodgings, a reference to night life action, and an alphabetized listing of fine restaurants and clubs throughout the Bay Area and way points.

Whether you're in the mood for a snack, Sunday brunch, quick lunch, or a lavish dinner, you'll find a wide range of selections offered in these pages.

It is Bright Lights' suggestion that you keep this supplement with you whenever you get the itch to travel. And, as in years past, we urge you to use caution on motoring trips — always to have plenty of rest and taking the time to dine leisurely. You will arrive at your destination safely and refreshed, ready to pursue those fulfilled pleasures.

Bright Lights wishes one and all a happy vacation and a wonderful summer.

Nine varieties of food at Tanforan Center

San Bruno is called "The Airport City" because of its close proximity to San Francisco International. Another major attraction is the multi-million dollar Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

In this latter category, on the lower level of the complex, you'll find the Garden Restaurants. With seating for over 500 patrons, the Garden Restaurants offer a choice of nine different establishments, each specializing in a distinctive cuisine.

The Hamburger Inn is proof positive that the Hamburger is still the king of American quick snacks. Seventeen different types of hamburgers are prepared here. For more exotic tastes there is the Teriyaki burger or the Hawaiian burger topped with pineapple and Thousand Island.

King Wong Chinese offers an excellent selection of Chinese cuisine, ordered a la carte or family style. Dinners for two begin as low as $6. There's also a merchant's lunch each day for $2.69.

As the name implies, Creative Sandwich is where you'll find a wide variety of sandwiches. From avocado with bacon to a hearty pastrami, all sandwiches are reasonably priced, beginning at $1.99.

Ice cream fanciers will appreciate Swenson's, where over 40 different kinds of famed Swensen's ice cream can be ordered. Floats, sodas, malts, shakes and an extraordinary amount of hand-packed ice cream "to go" keeps employees busy all day long. For others with a sweet tooth, Donut World opens daily at 8 a.m. Donuts — fancy frosted, old-fashioned, glazed or filled — are big business here. Chocolate and maple bars plus an unusual assortment of beverages.

Others with heartier early morning appetites will appreciate the excellent (and modestly priced) breakfasts prepared at the Red Carpet. Omelettes are served here all day long, with prices beginning at only $2.19. Red Carpet also specializes in pizza and six different types of hot dogs.

Quality steaks and a couple of Italian specialties are what to expect at Steaks and Chicken Unique. A top sirloin is only $4.49, while a large New York cut is $4.59. Spaghetti or ravioli can be ordered separately, or as a combination with steaks, chickens, meatballs or veal. Other specials include Veal Parmesan, breaded veal and chicken-fried steak.

If you live "by the numbers," Amigo Mike's should be your destiny. Here various Mexican plates are represented by numbers 1 through 12. Numbers 1 through 5 are Mike's combination plates, guaranteed to please the heartiest of appetities. These range in price from $2.69 to $3.29. A "Super Lunch" is only $1.79 and includes soup, beef taco and choice of salad.

Roast beef, turkey, ham and corned beef are all $3.59 dinner selections available at Hof's Brau. Numerous side orders, hot plates, salads and sandwiches are also available, including food to go, ordered by the half-pound. Among the dessert fare at Hof's Brau is the excellent home-made custard.

Enigma of Joe Greenbach — Peninsula mastermind

Joe Greenbach, who enjoyed his 50th birthday last Saturday, is a man of mystery. Some have said this owner of the hotel and restaurant empire now referred to as Villa Square is an enigma, for he doesn't look, act or even think that he's a "tycoon" in any sense of the word.

Almost reticent in discussing his remarkable accomplishments, Joe is instead the first to praise those who work with him and who have helped him in gaining success and prestige in owning and operating the Villa Hotel, Villa Chartier and Lanai restaurant.

Born and raised in San Francisco, Greenbach simply followed in his father's footsteps. Joe's father was in the hotel and construction business, owning and managing properties throughout California. In 1965, the family bought the Villa Hotel and through the years, because of hard work, the Villa flourished. In fact, business has been so good that the hotel is on another expansion program with 99 additional rooms to be added this summer.

Adjacent to the Villa Hotel is the historic Villa Chartier, which originally opened for business in 1925. Purchased in 1943 by Emerson Murfee, the Chartier became a legend over the years. Dining, entertainment and a hospitable lounge were the enticements. Generation after generation of local residents enjoyed the atmosphere and food.

In 1952 Murfee built the Lanai, just south of the Villa Chartier. Here he created a tropical paradise, with exotic foods from the Indies, Orient and Hawaii featured. This restaurant was an immediate success and a perfect complement to the more traditional Chartier.

Recently Murfee decided on a "semi-retirement" and put both of his restaurants on the market. That's when Joe Greenbach entered the picture, transacting a major real estate deal in the process.

After being in and around the hotel industry for over 35 years, Joe Greenbach has created Villa Square. From a 24-hour-a-day bus to the airport to a continental dinner in the Chartier to a tropical cocktail in the Lanai to breakfast in the hotel's coffee house ... everything that one could ask for is there. Entertainment is also part of the agenda. A versatile trio appears in the Villa Hotel lounge Tuesday through Saturday. The Villa Chartier's organ bar offers favorites from the past and rousing singalongs.

Meanwhile, Greenbach the enigma sits shirt-sleeved in his office, casual and totally unassuming. He doesn't realize that as of March 1, when he assumed control of the adjacent properties, that yet another tradition was born in the city of San Mateo.

Food and fun spot on the Peninsula

One of the most popular food attractions in the famed Brass Elephant Room at the Grosvenor Airport Inn in South San Francisco only minutes from San Francisco International Airport is the spectacular 25-foot Salad Bar, which offers one of the most varied and complete selections of fresh salad fixings, dressings, appetizers, hors d'oeuvres, fruits, breads, rolls, garnishes and other of nature's best offerings. That's why it's often called "Nature's Feast" by enthusiastic patrons. The Salad Bar is available either in connection with lunch or dinner or separately as you may wish.

On Sundays, the Salad Bar turns into a lavish buffet which offers many of the same popular salad favorites and related foods, but which is enhanced by what is often considered one of the most lavish and complete assortments of breakfast / brunch selections ever seen in the area. Altogether, there are more than 25 tempting choices, which include all the familiar dishes such as eggs, ham, bacon, sausage, potatoes, blintzes, etc., but also offers several hot entrees, including roast beef carved to your personal taste. It's an all-you-can-eat buffet, with complimentary champagne, with service from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Decor and setting of The Brass Elephant is reminiscent of Old Colonial India, with wicker furniture, plus carpeting, polished wood paneling, lazily turning ceiling fans and relaxed atmosphere. Facilities include full bar and cocktail lounge, a library room with backgammon tables and divans, the "Hearthstone Room" for small to medium-size groups with an open fireplace, and a disco dance floor where guests dance to swinging sounds from the big bands to the music of the Fifties. All these features, plus the beautiful people who come here, help to account for why the Brass Elephant is often called the "Fun and Food Spot of the Peninsula."

This award-winning restaurant has been serving the public since 1950 and continues to do so under the new ownership of Jim Sniadecki. Specialties are still prime rib, seafood and fowl, with steaks and lamb chops high on the sales chart. Medieval atmosphere reminiscent of an old Scottish castle establishes the motif. Sniadecki is always on the premises greeting patrons. Still a favorite is the Gourmet Platter for Two, consisting of sliced sirloin, barbecued ribs, chicken and scampi — all served Lazy Susan style. Dinners from $6.95 Monday through Thursday 5 to 10:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday until 11 p.m., and Sunday 4 to 10 p.m. Alan Dote entertains at the piano-bar Wednesday through Saturday from 9 p.m.

At long last, a German restaurant on the Peninsula. Operated by owner/chef Tillie Scholtz, this restaurant offers a fabulous selection of authentic German dishes from sauerbraten, potato pancakes and weiner schnitzle to potato-and-leek soup, apple strudel and everything in between. Every Wednesday is family night with a complete dinner for $4.29 a person. Every Sunday morning there is a full breakfast for only $2.50. Probably the largest selection of imported German beers will be found here. Easy to reach on the Coastside, via Highway 92 or 380, from anywhere on the Peninsula.

With the recent remodeling project that took place a few months back, the end result is a restaurant-lounge combination that has stunned regular customers. Formerly known as the Chez Bon, the structure was completely renovated for $250,000. Abundant use of rustic wood, stained glass, ceiling fans and greenery is that now the environment is totally conducive to dining. New Luncheon and Dinner menus have been introduced. An adjacent library-type setting was created with the addition of a fireplace, leather chairs and backgammon tables. Other renovation plans are taking place in the Inn, as the hotel's main entrance and lobby are almost completely refurbished, with only a few finishing touches to go.

One of the most famous Polynesian-style restaurants in the world, its legendary owner being Victor Bergeron, who helped to establish many of the gimmicks and trends that are now associated with the Polynesian food/drink operation. The South Sea drinks, of course, are among the most sought after. The tropical decor helps to put you in the right frame of mind. You'd swear you were in Tahiti or some lush paradise. VIPs, celebrities, sports figures and newspaper reporters gather here to be part of the "in" crowd. An extensive menu allows you to order a la carte or family style, depending on your numbers or your combined appetites. Have a rum drink for us.

Luigi Divite, one of the Two Guys From Italy (his partner is Pippo Calderone), started in the business washing dishes in Los Angeles. He and Pippo opened their first location in 1964 with $400 each. From that initial beginning, and with help from close Italian friends, they have made their chain into one of the fastest growing in the U.S. Now they have 52 locations — ten in the Bay Area — and the possibility of ten more within the next year or so. The Belmont restaurant prompted Luigi to move his family to the Bay Area. Besides the regular low prices on the pizza selections and menu specialties, there are money-saving specials every week. Monday through Thursday of next week, Two Guys from Italy will feature two complete Veal Cutlet Parmigiana dinners for only $10.95 (See the ad in today's guide.)

CURSED EXPLORERS?

These are wax figures of explorer Howard Carter and financier Lord Carnarvon which are currently on display inthe new King Tut's Tomb exhibit at the Wax Museum, Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco. Carter and Carnarvon opened the tomb of the boy king in the Valley of the Kings in 1922 and thereafter they and their associates met mysterious deaths one by one. Had the tomb been cursed?

Is there a curse on King Tut's tomb?

For years people have speculated about what happened to the people who opened the tomb of King Tut in the Valley of the Kings.

Now you can see many highlights of this fascinating real-life mystery story at King Tut's Tomb, the newest addition to the Wax Museum at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

The 3,000-square-foot addition houses 10 different scenes in the dramatic tale of the boy king. Measurements of the exhibit are within inches of the actual tomb discovered in 1922 by Howard Carter and financier Lord Carnarvon.

The discovery of the tomb, Tut's coronation and wedding, the embalming ritual, the robber of the tomb, the story of the Tut curse, and the re-creation of the death mask and the solid gold coffin are depicted in the exhibit. Museum hours: 9 a.m. to midnight, daily until mid-September. Admission is adults $4.50, children, $2.25.

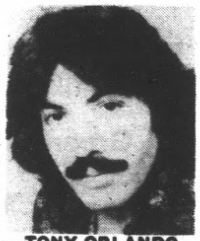
Orlando lands at Harrah's Reno in Headliner Room With Comic Sammy Shore

Vocalist Tony Orlando, whose songs include "Candida" and "Tie a Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Old Oak Tree," will begin a two-week engagement on Thursday, June 14, in the Headliner Room of Harrah's Reno.

Comedian Sammy Shore will kick off the Orlando shows at 8 and 11:30 p.m. through June 27.



TONY ORLANDO
Harrah's Tahoe
June 14-27

"Audiences have always been a major part of what I do on stage," says Orlando, "whether it's on television or in person. And I'm not going to change the format, because I love it so much. It's not something I have to do, but it's what I enjoy most."

The dark-haired entertainer urges audiences to sing along with him, to clap, even to dance in the aisles. "Critics tend to knock this style of performing," he admits, "but I don't think they understand how much people in the audience enjoy becoming part of the show."

Orlando is a native of New York's Hell's Kitchen and cut his first demo record at the age of 13. Three years later he made his debut on "American Bandstand" with the 1961 hit, "Halfway to Paradise."

His other hits include "Knock Three Times," "Sweet Gypsy Rose" and "He Don't Love You."

Success keeps falling on Bacharach and Tony Newley

The songwriting and musical talents of composers Burt Bacharach and Anthony Newley will be combined for a one-week engagement, beginning Friday, June 15, at Harrah's Tahoe in the South Shore Room.

Showtimes are 8 and 11:30 p.m. through June 21, with musical backing by the Brian Farnon Orchestra.

Bacharach has penned numerous hit songs including "Alfie," "Do you Know the Way to San Jose?" and the Oscar-winning "Rain drops Keep Falling on My Head."

Newley, described as "a young stylist in the old English music hall tradition," will be singing "What Kind of Fool Am I" and "Talk to the Animals."

Lawrence Welk is next at Harrah's Tahoe June 22.

MGM Grand: The Biggest Little Town is Located in Biggest Little City

The new MGM Grand Hotel in Reno is very much a little city in its own right. The $131 million resort complex, which opened on May 3, 1978, is a self-contained municipality in virtually every respect. It has its own police department, post office, telephone system and a population as large as some suburbs. In short, this place is the world's largest hotel-casino. The 26-story tower hotel has 1,015 guest rooms. There are seven restaurants, a 50-lane bowling alley, jai alai fronton, eight tennis courts, two movie theaters, a huge swimming pool and sun deck, 40 retail shops, health clubs and a recreational vehicle park called Camperland that has facilities for 592 campers, vans and travel trailers. There is a full-time staff of some 3,500 employees.

Mr. Showmanship, as he is also known, offers his pianistic virtuosity and versatility, as well as his captivating sense of humor and sense of timing.

One of the highest-paid entertainers in the world, Liberace spends 32 weeks a year making personal appearances from coast to coast, continent to continent, drawing capacity crowds everywhere.

His wardrobe is fantastic, with glitter, glamour, diamonds, bugleheads, furs and sequins to fill the Hollywood Bowl. But Liberace shines more as an entertainer as he runs the gamut of old favorites, new show tunes and the classics, all done with his customary flair.

Liberace is an enduring favorite of fans of all ages.

Cal Warren of Reno, previously with the San Jose Ballet, will recruit members with the hope of advancing the art of ballet in surrounding communities and improving the culture of this type in Northern Nevada.

Located on Highway 20 just 12 miles east of Highway 101 near Ukiah, Le Trianon Resort is situated picturesquely on the edge of several beautiful lakes.

No water skiing is allowed on the lakes, assuring vacationers of the kind of solitude necessary for respectable angling.

With emphasis on family, Le Trianon features cabins, camping areas, barbecue pits, swimming and boating.

More and more players for gambling tables

Cashing in one's chips is a euphemism for defeat or death.

In places like Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe, it is a literal description for success and fortune.

And more Californians than ever before are taking to the Nevada gaming tables as gambling continues to grow in popularity. And there are plenty of these players to go around for the gaming casinos, according to a gathering of gaming experts which met recently at the University of Nevada for the Reno Fourth National Conference on Gambling. The event was held at the MGM Grand Hotel in Reno.

The conference was attended by high rollers, travel industry officials, social scientists and others from related fields.

It was agreed that the Hilton and MGM corporations have contributed to a better business image of Nevada gaming, as had Harrah's over the past eight years.

"I think," said J. George Drews, executive vice president for finance and administration in Harrah's hotels and casinos, "we have in gaming one of the major growth industries in the United States."

So great has been this growth that Las Vegas, "gaming mecca of the world," is beginning, for the first time, to feel the effects. This threat to Vegas was in part due to the opening of five new Reno casinos since spring: the MGM Grand, the Comstock, Circus Circus, Money Tree Addition and the Sahara-Reno.

Those seeking further information on this subject are urged to contact the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at the University of Nevada-Reno, Reno, Nevada. The telephone number is (702) 784-6877.

Belly Laughs and Yocks When Three Funny People Hit Vegas Hilton Stage

Three of the world's funniest comedians will be contributing to the excitement and merriment at the Las Vegas Hilton during the coming summer.

Phillys Diller, formerly a Bay Area housewife, will appear with Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme through June 11. Joan Rivers, whose first film "Rabbit Test" was a recent box office hit, will appear with John Davidson June 12 through July 2; and comedian Milton Berle, formerly a major TV star, will be on the Hilton stage August 7 through 20 with singer Lou Rawls.

Showtimes at the Hilton are 8 p.m. and midnight, with a complete dinner served at the early show. The pre-show dinner music is played by the hotel's musical conductor, Jimmy Muldore and his Hilton Strings.

No rocky times at Boulder Creek

Located in the beautiful Redwoods in the mountains above Santa Cruz is a plush resort called Boulder Creek Golf and Country Club. It is only an hour's drive from the Peninsula.

Luxurious condominium rentals, tennis courts and a champion 18-hole golf course are all part of the vacation enticements.

There is ample swimming area and gourmet delights in the award-winning Redwood Dining Room.

New general manager Dan James, now the principal owner of the resort, has designed a vacation package to appeal to Peninsula residents. In addition to the rental, lunches and cocktails are included for just $46 — a person. Other similar packages — slightly higher — are available for golf and tennis enthusiasts.
